History of the Holidays: Labor Day History video

Happy Labor Day!

On Monday September 6th, we celebrate YOU, the American worker. Labor Day pays tribute to the contributions and achievements of American workers. It was created by the labor movement in the late 19th century and became a federal holiday in 1894.

Career Ready Lancaster! launches website, aims to

Be inspired by Michael's career journey and learn about his position as a team lead at Turkey Hill in Conestoga, PA. Next, take a Virtual Tour of Turkey Hill and other local companies!

Career Ready Lancaster!, or CRL! for short, is a partnership of local businesses, educators and community partners, convened by the Lancaster County Workforce Development Board. CRL!'s mission is clear: To develop a quality workforce for a strong local economy. How do they do that? It's all about collaboration!

Visit Career Ready Lancaster! today to explore the many paths to employment and access to helpful resources and tools to inspire you on your career journey.

Share your Career Journey on Career Ready Lancaster!

One of the things we all know about careers is it's never a straight path -- for many of us, it's often more like a roundabout path with twists and turns. Some may even describe it as a bowl of spaghetti! CRL! is seeking people to share a 2-3 minute self-recorded career story to be shared on the CRL! website. Send your video and contact information to: Kimberley Patrick, CRL! Coordinator.

Here's some questions to answer to get you started:

1. What kind of education or training did you pursue in preparation for your career?
2. Did you have any summer jobs or internships?
3. How many jobs did you have before you got this one?
4. What do you love about your career journey?
5. What would you tell your former self now if you could go back in time regarding your career?

Patrick, a training coordinator for Caterpillar, Inc, explains how his desire for hands on learning landed him at Penn Tech after high school. Through internships, on- the-job learning, and moving up the career ladder at Caterpillar, he's been with the company for 10 years!

A note from the desk of the Executive Director of the Workforce Development Board

Note from the Editor: Earlier this week, our Executive Director Cathy Rychalsky was conducting her weekly check-ins with members of our community, including business leaders, educators, local government, and even those individuals currently in the job market. She does this to keep her finger on the pulse of what is driving Workforce Development locally. At a meeting with the Lancaster County Career and Technology Center (LCCTC), she offered to allow Amber Kreger, Director of Higher and Continuing Education, to share an important message about LCCTC and their commitment to workforce and our partnership. Here's a message from Amber in her own words:

"The Lancaster County Career & Technology Center is the largest workforce-focused training provider for both adults and high school students in Lancaster County. The training opportunities provided by the Lancaster County CTC has prepared over 75,000 individuals for the workforce during the CTC's 50 years in existence.

There is a natural bond in mission between the Workforce Development Board and the Lancaster County CTC. Each institution, in their own unique ways, seeks to improve our region by offering training and support to individuals and employers in the region.

The CTC's commitment to Workforce Development in the region is strong. The CTC will recruit a Workforce Development Coordinator to work with local business and industry partners. This position will exist to develop opportunities to conduct industry-specific training programs at our facilities. If your organization needs state-of-the-industry facilities for trainings, please contact Amber Kreger, Director of Higher & Continuing Education at 717-464-7050."
